

WHO'S WHO and doing what.

By EDDY KIM

"STROLLING the LANE, TOGETHER ..."

That's what it will be for another bride, another groom, following the recent wedding of MISS OLLIE FAYE BROWN and MR. HERBERT FREEMAN at the Chapel of the Roses in Las Vegas. The new Mrs. Freeman was given in marriage by MR. EARL WATSON and attended by Mrs. Watson, while MR. DOUGLAS HODGES stood with Mr. Freeman as his best man.

The attractive bride wore a floor-length empire white sheath skirt with lace bodice over baby-blue satin and a large bow at the back with floor-length streamers. Her chapel veil was held by seed pearls and fell into tiers. She carried white carnations. Mrs. Watson wore a floor-length teal blue brocade dress with a blue organza jacket and a blue veil held by blue rose petals.

For the reception that followed in the beautiful patio of the Earl Watsons' home, Mrs. Freeman changed to a champagne colored dress and Mrs. Watson was in green lace. Guests "danced at the wedding" and toasted the happy couple with pink champagne after partaking of the traditional wedding cake, an artistic blue and white creation in four tiers attractively displayed on a table cloth of matching colors.

Mrs. Freeman is associated with Baldwin Heights Homes in a managerial capacity while Mr. Freeman will be teaching at Highland School this fall.

MR. WOODROW WILSON visited his NORA in Compton, Calif., over the weekend, where she is resting at the home of her sister following hospital checkups in LA. . . It was our pleasure to attend the recent 28th biennial convention of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority at the Ambassador Hotel in LA along with 1,500 prominent women leaders from 280 communities who were on hand for the five-day session of the interracial public service organization. Speakers included PATRICIA HARRIS, the new Ambassador to Luxembourg; CONGRESSWOMAN EDITH GREEN of Oregon and DOROTHY HEIGHT, president of the National Council of Negro Women, past president of DST and an honorary member of our own Gamma Phi Delta. Mrs. Height was presented with the MARY CHURCH TERRILL Award for her "outstanding contributions to better racial relations and the fight for human dignity." One of the highlights of the affair for us was meeting NANNIE MITCHELL-TURNER, president-treasurer of the St. Louis Argus, at a barbecue hosted by MRS. ELLIE B. WILLIAMS (well-known in these parts) and her daughter, MRS. OLIVE DAVENPORT, for convention delegates from St. Louis, former home of the hostesses. . . ## (BUSES, from page 1) confirmed reports that Gray Line West is bringing in newer, more modern buses to replace the present decrepit rolling stock.

The new management also intends to eliminate confusion as to where passengers may board buses by placing easily-read "bus-stop" signs at regular intervals along the various routes, Collins said. The new manager obviously was baffled as to why this elementary adjunct of almost all metropolitan bus systems had not been long since initiated here.

HE FURTHER REVEALED that all drivers will be expected to carry enough coin and smaller bills to change large bills presented by passengers. He pointed out, however, that changing large bills can become quite a problem and expressed the hope that the public would cooperate by obtaining the exact or approximate fare before boarding buses whenever possible.

Collins explained that drivers are now being provided with $50 in change before starting work and can obtain additional change at the 4th and Fremont Sts. terminal when they run low.

"We feel that courtesy is indispensable to successful public service," Collins said, "and Gray Line West will insist that all employees observe this fundamental rule. But we do not anticipate any difficulty in this area. We are satisfied from reports received thus far that almost all employees of the local system measure up to our requirements in this important respect.

"You can assure the citizens of West Las Vegas that Gray Line West will make every effort to give them the best public transportation possible," he concluded.
