WHO'S WHO and doing what

By EDDYE K. KIM

AN OPEN LETTER TO ALL FATHERS (Especially Negro Americans)

Greetings--And a joyous day to each of you. . . The real purpose of our letter is to ask every man who has sired a son to reflect upon this very noble title, and its meaning.

Actually, on becoming a father, a whole new phase of your life begins. A great new blessing has been added to your name. Your family now includes a son who will grow to manhood bearing your name and likeness.

You have, at once, the enviable privilege and the awesome responsibility of nurturing and molding a new life--a continuation of your own. You are now irrevocably duty bound, and morally obligated to begin to communicate to your son--AT THE EARLIEST POSSIBLE MOMENT--respect for, and obedience to the laws of his father.

He must be made to understand and accept the fact that your authority is not something to be casually considered--and obeyed if he has a mind to.

He must be kept in school to obtain, at least, a high school education. If you are unable to check his study habits and monitor his school work because you did not complete your own schooling, it still does not relieve you of the serious responsibility of seeing him complete his education.

EDDYE K. KIM

Your son's education includes learning good manners and courteous behavior. It includes developing a soft, well-modulated speaking voice, generally free of bad grammar and four letter words.

It includes the complete understanding that, someday, he will grow into an adult, not just physically, but spiritually and mentally.

You Sir, whom he calls Father, or Dad, must realize he has the right to worship you, to imitate you, to come home with a bloody nose because he objected to the neighborhood bully poking fun at you, his Dad--his idol.

The responsibility of rearing an honorable number-one son in many present day environmental handicaps is far greater than the guiding of a nation by a President. The day eventually comes when a President can step down.

When do you stop being a father? When does he stop being your son? Are you capable of ever removing your blood from his veins? Hardly.

While you are being honored, catered to, gifted with presents on this Fathers Day, slip away to some quiet spot, and, in all earnestness, ask God to help you rear a fine new breed of Negro American manhood.

Supreme Basileus Here For Chapter Installation

Mrs. Kay Davis, Supreme Basileus of Gamma Phi Delta Sorority, Inc., a National and International Organization for Business and Professional Women, arrives in Las Vegas Saturday morning to officiate at the installation ceremonies of a second local Chapter of the Sorority.

The new Chapter, recently organized by Mrs. Thelma Toms, who also organized Alpha Rho Chapter (the first Greek Letter Sorority for Negro women to come into the state of Nevada) will hold its installation at the home of Mrs. V. F. Fitzgerald, Saturday evening. Mrs. Davis will be assisted by the National Organizer, Mrs. Elle B. Williams of Los Angeles, California.

MRS. KAY DAVIS

Neophyte Gamma Phi Deltas to be initiated into the Sorority are Vernita Stricklin, Lucille Gee, Peggy Walker, Hannah Brown, Carita Harbert, Vera Bullock, Avanelle Lewis, Beatrice Bryant, Ida Crockett, and Alice Key.

Founded in 1940, the Sorority's prime purpose is to encourage and finance educational training of women in schools, colleges and universities of higher learning. The Sorority also works to establish better relationships between women of all races and creeds, and to contribute to as many worthy charities and civic projects, on the local level, as possible.

Kay Davis, an active school counselor, with both a B.S. and Masters degree, is only hours away from her Ph.D. As the wife of James Davis, a Presbyterian Minister, and mother of two children, Mrs. Davis is socially prominent in Dayton and noted for her outstanding civic and church activities.

Previous to becoming Supreme Basileus of Gamma Phi Delta Sorority, Mrs. Davis served as National Financial Secretary, Southern Regional Director, and Northern Regional Director for the organization.

Following Saturday night's installation, a late Banquet is programmed honoring the new Chapter, and a round of social activities are planned by local sorors honoring the "Supreme" and Mrs. Williams during their week-end stay.
