

AND A LIE DETECTOR TEST FOR CANDIDATES, TOO

WASHINGTON -- Nevada Sen. Howard W. Cannon has called for Senate Finance Committee action in support of his proposal to grant voters a tax credit of up to $10 for political contributions which he termed "a long-needed reform which would deal with the political realities of the second half of the twentieth century."

The proposal is contained among a series of election reforms authored by the senator which recently won approval of the Senate Rules Committee. Cannon is chairman of the Subcommittee on Privileges and Elections.

In his statement supporting related legislation on tax incentives Cannon declared the problem of political fund-raising was challenging the entire election system. Each election, he testified, the problem becomes "more complicated, costly and sophisticated. Indeed, in some elections it becomes the tail that wags the dog."

A tax incentive which would spread contributions among the mass of voters, Cannon said, would relieve the candidate of the need to go into severe personal debt, exhaust his personal means or obligate himself to "narrow economic interest."

Cannon renewed his pledge to hold hearings on President Johnson's proposed election reform bill, indicating that his own bill dealt only with part of the problem. The senator indicated his support for the disclosure section of the president's bill which provides for enumeration of candidates' contributions and income. He supported similar legislation last year which now is pending on the Senate calendar.

The Nevada senator likened his proposed tax credit to the deductions now permitted for charitable contributions. He predicted the electorate would "respond enthusiastically" to the opportunity, in a way which would "broaden as much as possible the base of economic support among the people whose participation is essential to a healthy political system."

He said the tax benefit should be reasonably modest so that all of the burden would not be shifted from parties and candidates to the federal government through the loss of tax revenues. "Its effects in increased citizen participation and in a broader financial base for parties and candidates would be so socially desirable that the cost to the government would be overshadowed by the resulting moral good and the stimulating effect upon our political system."

He urged the committee to overlook no opportunity to assist in updating election campaign practices, including study of a proposal for a direct appropriation of funds from the treasury to help defray the costs of presidential campaigns.

FINAL TRIBUTE PAID JUDGE SLATER

CHICAGO--(NPI) -- Hundreds of mourners from every walk of life gathered at Bethel AME church last Saturday morning to pay final tribute to Judge Frederick W. (Duke) Slater.

Judge Slater, who sat on the bench in Chicago for 18 years, was known widely as "The People's Judge," because of his compassion for the plight of the unfortunate. He was also a legendary sports figure at the University of Iowa, where he won fame as an All-American tackle on the Iowa football team.

Among those paying tribute to the veteran jurist was Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley, who attended wake services held at Bethel church the evening before. Mayor Daley said Judge Slater had contributed to the growth and progress of Chicago and would be greatly missed by all its citizens.

Judge Slater died at his Chicago Beach Drive apartment. He had been hospitalized several months ago and his illness diagnosed as cancer.

The Rev. U. S. Robinson, presiding elder, North Chicago District, AME church, read the scripture, and the eulogy was delivered by Dr. Robert Thomas, Sr.

Judge Slater was born Dec. 19, 1898 in Normal, Ill., the oldest of six children. His early education was in the public schools of Chicago, Aurora, Nebraska and Clinton, Iowa, where he was graduated from high school in 1916. He received the B. A. and LL.B degrees from the State University of Iowa and was admitted to the Iowa Bar in 1928 and the Illinois Bar in 1929. He began the general practice of law in Chicago in 1932.

A widower, Judge Slater was married to the former Etta Searcy, also a graduate of the University of Iowa, in 1926. She died in 1962.

WHY ARE YOU SUPPORTING JOHN FOLEY FOR LT. GOVERNOR?

George Ward School Teacher

I am supporting John Foley because (1) he is a third-generation Nevadan; (2) he knows the state, its people and their problems; (3) He will work for the benefit of all men, regardless of race, religion, ethnic background or nationality; (4) he is number one in education, and (5) he will be a full-time Lieutenant Governor.

Gladene Short
Housewife

I like a man who shows consideration for people all of the time - not just at election time. John Foley has always been available to serve our community when asked, even though it takes a lot of his time away from his law practice and his family. I think he will make a wonderful Lieutenant Governor.

Jimmy White
