

PRESS CLUB STAGES ANNUAL BENEFIT SHOW

Bruce Dietrick, president of the Las Vegas Press Club, recently announced the appointment of Ruth Berg as director for the 1966 Branding Iron show and dinner.

CASTING FOR the show will take place on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Oct. 5-6-7 in the Palomino Room of the Hacienda Hotel at 8 P.M. Scheduled for a Nov. 1st production, this traditional Press Club affair is the means by which funds for journalism scholarships are raised for deserving high school graduates from Clark County schools.

Since its inception in the early 1950's, the "Branding Iron" dinner, fashioned after the National Press Club "Gridiron", has been one of the most popular events of the Las Vegas social scene.

Music, choreography, blackouts and short skits are all designed to jeer, taunt and sear those who have been involved in many of the recent news headlines. This being a political year, candidates may expect their share of mockery and ridicule.

"AS ALWAYS, this benefit show and dinner is truly a community effort," Dietrick stated. "Actors, musicians, dancers, backstage workers, come from all walks of life. They do not have to be press club members to participate," he emphasized.

Reports from the script committee, headed by Joe Diggles, promises a fast-paced, rib-tickling evening of hilarity.
