HOPE FOR ALABAMA?

MONTGOMERY, Ala. - (NPI)--Racial turmoil in Alabama will get a lot worse as Mrs. Lurleen Wallace takes over as the state's governor, Alabama Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers has warned.

With Lurleen coming in as governor, "I see little change in the state's resistance to federal civil rights," Flowers said. The outgoing attorney general feared that racial turmoil in the state would "get a lot worse before it gets better."

"THE NEGROES won't continue to stand by and take injustice forever. I couldn't blame them if I were in their shoes. We might have a race war one of these days. I'm not an alarmist. I just don't think it's that far away, the way things have been going."

Outgoing Gov. George C. Wallace may moderate some "because of the Negro vote and because he's got all the mileage he could out of standing in the school-house door," Flowers said.

Wallace will be eligible to run for governor in his own name in 1970. "I'm going to run head-on into him in 1970. There is no way the Wallace people can get rid of me."

"I'm going to stay and scrap."
