Major Leaguers Like Mike

MIKE NEWSOM Wizard Of Western High

Scouts from several major league clubs have scouted Mike Newsom, Western High School's sensational pitcher-infielder who led the Warriors to their second consecutive Nevada state diamond crown. Unbeaten in two years at the mound, the young pitching ace sparkled in the final two games against Sparks, allowing only two hits in six innings in the first game and bashing two home runs in the second.

Mike, who transferred from Roswell, New Mexico two years ago, was chosen as a Southern Zone All-Conference pitcher last year. It is authoritatively reported that at least four scouts from major league clubs were here to take a long look at Mike and they liked what they saw.

The 155 pound senior is also a football player of no mean ability and has played the position of half-back on the Western High team for the past two years.

Mike is the son of Mrs. Esther Newsom, a teacher at Operation Independence Day Care Center. Justifiably proud of young Mike, Mrs. Newsom does not deny that "people" are interested in her son embarking on a baseball career upon graduation from High School but confides that he will attend a College in Idaho on a scholarship... (Wise mother--Smart son).

And Then There's All That Gravy

MICHIGAN STATE star George Webster takes the wheel of a new Dodge with the same aplomb as when he captained Michigan State's grid squad. Webster, the No. 1 American Football League draft choice, was gifted with the auto after signing a professional football contract with the Houston Oilers of the AFL. Hailing from Anderson, S.C., he was co-captain of the Michigan State team. Shown presenting the 1967 Dodge Charger to Webster for the Oilers is Robert S. McCurry, general manager, Dodge Division, Chrysler Corporation. (NPI Photo)
