On Monday May 22, 1967, the brothers of the Las Vegas Alumni Chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity dedicated a room in the local boy scouts headquarters building in honor of the late Brother Kermit R. Booker, Sr. who passed away last October.

Mr. Booker was very active in scouting activities when he was alive. He had over 25 years of adult scouting service and was a member of the Trailblazers. In 1959 he received the coveted Silver Beaver Award for long and dedicated service. He was also a member-at-large of the Boulder Dam Council. He was initially responsible for organizing the first boy scout troop at Madison Elementary School. Many a boy from West Las Vegas can thank Mr. Booker for helping him get the right start in life. He was also directly responsible for a great number of local young men attending college.

Attending this ceremony was his widow, Mrs. Ethel L. Booker, his son, Kermit R. Booker, Jr.; members of the local chapter, local scouting officials, and scouts from the Madison Elementary School Troop.

To everybody's shock and chagrin, the local E.O.B. Exec Board failed to take the position of handling this as a mere technicality and offer Operation Independence the unqualified support it deserves.

The compromise was the joint meeting held last night. As has been pointed out, as this is written, the outcome is not known.

What the writer does know is that there is simply no acceptable reason, or excuse, for a Manpower Training Program not extant in this community. Certainly, it is needed. Daily, more and more unskilled, untrained, uneducated people pour into Las Vegas--Who or what will provide the answer?

THERE ARE many of us who hold strong feelings about Uncle's money being utilized throughout the nation, and we, here, are too onery to avail ourselves of our rightful share ... After all, Uncle's money is ours ... We want some of that pork barrel, too.

Of course, our feelings can be better expressed after we know what happened last night ... And there are lots of thoughts going through many minds as to why, etc.

Then, perhaps, we may all be embroiled in World War III soon, and we'll all be 'sticking' or dead--much more likely, the latter.
