Southwest Gas Sponsors Of Educational Films Again

Southwest Gas Corporation is again sponsoring a series of ten Screen News Digest educational films for the 1967-68 school year. The films are available to all Clark County High School and Junior High classrooms.

Honored by the Freedoms Foundation as "an outstanding contribution to a better understanding of the American way of life," the Screen News Digest films are made available without charge to local schools as a public service by Southwest Gas.

During the 1966-67 school year the monthly films were distributed to 20 schools, with several teachers in each school using the series for classroom study. An estimated 6,000 students saw each of the year's ten films.

THE CURRENT film, entitled "Middle East Upheaval," traces the roots of unrest that caused the conflict between Israel and Egypt in the summer of this year. Included with each film is a suggested outline for discussion, as well as a synopsis and test of the film contents.

Forthcoming presentations will cover headline happenings as they occur. Special feature films this year will be on the first flight in the Apollo program, the fiftieth anniversary of the Russian Revolution and a full-length, in-depth color study of the Federal government.

The Screen News Digest, the only current events film program of its kind in the audio-visual field, is currently seen by more than five million students in 15,000 Junior and Senior High Schools throughout the United States.

the news-making convention, Joanne said, was the banquet speech of Miss Barbara Jordan, first Negro woman elected to the Texas State Senate since Reconstruction.

THE NEGRO woman, according to Miss Jordan, must change a "Philosophy of excuse to the philosophy of responsibility... She would ever remind the citizen... that a man of dignity does not burn down the store and beg for his supper."

Other outstanding events of the convention included a public address by Senator Charles H. Percy (R.-Ill.); a commendation from Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey on the organization's "Teen-Lift", an annual career motivation program; a panel discussion on "Trouble in Our Streets--Some Positive Approaches" moderated by Ofield Dukes, special Assistant to Vice President Humphrey and Sengstacke Publications; Howard B. Woods, editor-in-chief of the Pittsburgh Courier, and Herman T. Smith, president and chairman of the board of Jet Foods Corporation.

WORKSHOP discussions were held on education, foreign policy, employment and training and the status of women as well as six practical politics sessions. All speakers were outstanding specialists in their respective fields and brought to the delegates new insights and approaches to the problems under discussion.

Honorary members initiated during special ceremonies held on the opening day of the convention were Lady Sara Lou Carter, wife of Guyana's ambassador to the United States; Mrs. Charlotte Moton Hubbard, Deputy Assistant Secretary of the State for Public Affairs; Mrs. Fred Lazarus, III, civic leader and wife of the board chairman of Shillitos and the Federated Stores; and Dr. Miriam A. Shelden, Dean of Women at the University of Illinois, Urbana, Illinois.

Soror Pughsley's closing remarks in her report from the convention concerned inactive Deltas. Across the nation, a dynamic attempt is being made to re-claim all Sorors who are no longer active in Delta. If there are any such members of the Sorority in the Las Vegas area, please call 642-0952 (Joanne W. Pughsley) and become an active part of the Las Vegas Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc.

"Deltas On The Move"

The Las Vegas Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta, Inc., began its second year of existence Friday night, September 15, 1967 with an inspirational meeting at the home of Soror Helen Anderson. During the meeting, it was decided that the chapter will sell Halloween Candy and Christmas cards from which proceeds will be used to help accomplish goals of service to the community and scholarships for needy students.
