"The Crappie Catcher"

Put on an extra set of long handles, gas up your water buggy, pick up plenty of small crappie minnows, and head for the ICEBERG CANYON. The Crappie are there. You should have some kind of heat aboard your boat, because the nights are very cold.

If you don't have a bottled gas stove, you can make an excellent charcoal stove with very little effort, and at no expense. Take a 5 gallon paint bucket, which is made of fairly heavy sheet metal, and which has a heavy metal top. Scrape out all the old paint so that you won't be bothered with the smelly fumes of burning paint when you get your fire going. Place 5 to 6 inches of stones, pebbles, or broken pieces of cement or brick in the bottom of the paint bucket. Take a large nail and drive a ring of holes around the bottom of the bucket, 2 to 3 inches from the bottom. The holes should be about an inch apart, and should ring the bucket at a level midway the 4 to 6 inches of stones which you placed in the bottom.

The stones on the bottom of the paint bucket are to prevent the bottom from over heating. The holes you put in the bucket are to allow air to enter so as to create a draft for your fire. Be sure to save the top of the paint can. It will serve a double purpose. You set it on loosely when you want to use it as a stove top for your coffee pot or frying pan. You set the top on tightly when you want to slow down, or put out your fire.

A 10-pound sack of charcoal will keep a good fire going all night. When your fire gets too hot, put the lid on the can. When it is not hot enough, leave the lid off.

Keep a can of charcoal starter on your boat at all times. It comes in very handy when you want to start your boat stove burning, and also when you beach your boat and want to start a camp fire with damp drift wood.

With your paint-bucket charcoal stove, and your extra pair of longies, you can stay as warm as a mother's love while you load up with crappies.

Have your gasoline lanterns in good shape. Always keep extra mantles, and an extra generator in your tackle box. To throw more light on the water, and to keep the glare out of your eyes, take a roll of aluminum foil along.

Local Businessmen Form Service Club

THE SERTOMA CLUB WEST held its second organizational meeting at Tommy's Hof Brau in the Twin Lakes Shopping Center Thursday, November 2.

The formation of this club is a CBAC (Club Build A Club) project of the Sertoma Club of Las Vegas. The Sertoma Club is an organization of business, professional, institutional and agricultural men knit together in bonds of personal friendship and united in the ideal of service to their community.

Sertoma, with clubs in the United States, Canada, Mexico and Puerto Rico, derives its name from the organization's slogan, "Service To Mankind", and was founded in 1912 at

WORTH APPRECIATED

PHILADELPHIA - (NPI)--Wilt Chamberlain's worth to the world champions Philadelphia 76ers is so highly appreciated that the other players do not even bother to begrudge the great center of his record pro basketball salary of $250,000. Seventy Sixers' Coach Alex Hannum explained their appreciation of Wilt by saying that since Chamberlain has been in the National Basketball Association he has raised the salary for all players as a drawing card.

ELIMINATED

LOS ANGELES - (NPI)--Former two-time champion Floyd Patterson was eased out of the world heavyweight elimination picture by a man 10 years his junior. The only man to win the heavyweight title twice, Floyd's hopes to regain it for the third time vanished when he was floored twice and outpointed on a controversial 12-round decision by California's Jerry Quarry. The two fought to a 10-round draw last June 9.

CURFEW BREAKERS SUSPENDED

LANSING, Mich. - (NPI)--Six curfew breakers were suspended by Michigan State Coach Duffy Daugherty recently in a shakeup of the team. Suspended for an undetermined period were halfback Sterling Armstrong, and Don Law, guard Ken Little, tight ends Franklin Foreman and Maurice Haynes and tackle Joe Pyzybycki. All except Pyzybycki are Negroes.

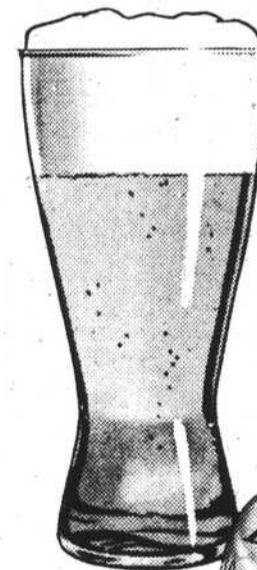

INJURY BOTHERS BEARS

CHICAGO - (NPI)--The Chicago Bears last week were worried about their great running back, Gale Sayers, as the Bears prepared to invade Detroit for a National Football League game with the Lions. Sayers for the past few weeks has been hampered by a sore leg which prevented him from operating at top speed. Sayers is the Bears' biggest drawing card as well as their top star.

OFF TO FAST START

BOSTON - (NPI)--The Boston Celtics, coached for the second straight year by defensive genius Bill Russell, early last week were off to their customary fast start with a record
