Teachers Host Parents

The sixth grade teachers Mrs. Joanne Dunn and Mr. Kermit Booker at Matt Kelly School held a pot-luck supper with the parents of their students in attendance. Mr. John Walker, school principal, was guest and main speaker. Mrs. Roberta Keene, the librarian, explained the library program.

This was the second meeting of the year with parents and sixth grade teachers, designed to keep and develop further communications with the home. The evening agenda included the proposed 59 million dollar school bond, Parent-Teacher Association and the extended field trip planned for the sixth grade students at Matt Kelly this spring. At least one more such meeting is planned before the end of school.

Kit Carson Chorus A Hit
Kit Carson Elementary School Chorus, comprised of 76 voices, were guests of Hyde Park Junior High School in observance of Negro History Week, February 15.
Following a biographical sketch on James Weldon Johnson by Grace McGlothen, teacher of Spanish, Art and Music at Kit Carson, the chorus sang Johnson's "Lift Every Voice and Sing," and a spiritual "Now Let Me Fly," arranged by Frank Fox.
This first appearance of the choral group was enthusiastically received.
