knows the answer...

Is peroxide needed to color unwanted gray hair?

Hair care and beauty experts know that the first traces of gray hair—and even slight fading of natural color after chemical relaxing—can dull a woman's appearance and make her look older than she feels. While most women hate these premature aging effects, many are hesitant about using permanent peroxide haircoloring which may change the natural hair color while coloring gray.

Professionally-trained hairdressers know the importance of their customers' preferences when unwanted gray becomes a problem. These experts also know that Clairol created semi-permanent Loving Care® hair color lotion without peroxide... to color only the gray without changing the natural shade. They also find Loving Care blends back color faded by chemical processing. Because of its mildness, Loving Care maintains healthy looking hair and lasts through a month of shampoos.

Whatever a woman's reason for wanting Loving Care for her hair, she is always wise to consult a professional beautician. Hairdressers are equipped with a family of fine Clairol products and the training to promise each patron the loveliest and most personalized haircoloring effects every time she visits her salon. If you dislike gray, and want no peroxide, why not ask your beautician to glamorize it with Loving Care?

More Hate From Wayne

Big John Wayne of the movies has again used his popularity and his position to further his bigoted ideas, and his opposition to the tan portion of this nation which helped place him on his pinnacle.

Wayne took to transcribed radio messages this week to aid the political campaign of Mayor Sam Yorty. Yorty is fighting for his political life to try and survive the on rush of Councilman Tom Bradley, his Negro opponent in next week's Los Angeles Mayoralty election.

In 1964 "Duke" Wayne campaigned for presidential nominee Barry Goldwater.

With only limited time remaining, a group of Las Vegas Negro residents are addressing letters to the radio and TV stations carrying Wayne's biased messages, voicing their objections.
