Age Group at their October meeting. Harmon called for the removal of the state excise taxes on all food and drug items, and also promised to introduce legislation which would permit the Public Service Commission to offer reduced bus fare rates to all Senior Citizens.

'Many of our senior citizens have part-time jobs, and must use the transit systems to get to their respective places of employment. They cannot afford the daily bus fares, and the Public Service Commission would be permitted to ease the problem and offer reduced rates.'

"Fireproof" Your House By Eliminating Rubbish

Fives times an hour - 120 times a day, - a U. S. Home is destroyed or damaged by a fire which started in, or was fed by, rubbish.

So here's a good place to start in "fireproofing" your house. Not only should you dispose of rubbish regularly, but you should store it in a fire-safe containers until the refuse collectors have removed it from the premises. That's the advice from Chief J. D. Miller, Las Vegas Fire Department.

Much of what the average person describes as "gargabe" or rubbish is flammable, Chief Miller said. And such material, improperly stored, can catch fire and lead to disaster. That's why local fire officials recommend that homeowners use non-flammable galvanized steel containers for storage of all trash, rubbish and garbage -- both inside and outside the house.

It is a good idea to have metal cans of this type in the basement, garage and utility room -- particularly in workshop areas to collect sawdust, shavings, and wood scraps, oily rags and the like.

All trash cans should be equipped with close-fitting covers, so that even if fire should start in the metal container, it will not spread, Chief Miller said.

To put out the fire will require only the placing of the cover on the container. Completely confined, the fire will quickly exhaust the air supply in the can, and burn itself out in a matter of minutes.

Among the most flammable items around the house are newspapers and magazines. Don't let them accumulate. Paint cans with small amounts of paint -- probably hardened and not usable -- also should be discarded. Don't let them lie around where they would merely supply fuel should a fire break out.
