

Lee Archer, Jr. recently retired as a colonel in the United States Air Force, has been appointed to the position of Manager of Equal Opportunity Affairs in the Corporate Personnel department of General Foods Corporation.

Mr. Archer graduated from the University of California and received his master's degree at New York University before being selected for the Air Force Command and Staff College of the Air University.

During his twenty-seven years in the Air Force, Mr. Archer served in the U. S., Europe and Central America as commander and staff officer of both operations and administration. In France, he was chief of protocol and Staff Information Officer, and later Operations Liaison Officer. His most recent assignment had been Deputy Commander of bases in the Canal Zone, where he was responsible for helping to control and operate two major Air Force bases.

Mr. Archer was consistently active as Equal Opportunity Officer throughout his service career. At General Foods, he will apply his experiences and knowledge to assist the company's efforts to create meaningful avenues of employment and advancement for members of minority groups. He is one of the few black men to hold that position with a major corporation.

What's keeping you from looking good?
Wrong hair color?

Beauty experts will tell you—the perfect hair color for you may be just a shade away from your natural shade. It depends on your complexion, your eyes and the way you use make-up.

Hairdressers know that dark or thick or coarse hair is resistant to drastic color change. But, even a very slightly lighter shade adds excitement to a woman's appearance. And the professional hairdressers also know there's no more natural way to change hair color than Miss Clairol® haircoloring.

Miss Clairol lightens and adds color at the same time (and also covers gray). This means the resulting color is a combination of your own hair and the color you choose. Generally, dark exotic browns and blacks are most flattering on darker skin tones... and golden or red shades are more beautiful on lighter tan complexions.

If you're thinking of changing your hair color, go to the experts. Professionally trained hairdressers have the whole family of fine Clairol products and the know-how to make your experience with haircoloring an exciting adventure. So whether you go brown, gold, redhead or deep black, just keep on looking good!
