were before the Court today the statute has not been invoked since 1962. If the Court had upheld the statute it would have given us an additional means of limiting the use of the mails by commercial dealers in obscenity. But the Court's holding was on purely procedural grounds and does not in any sense legalize the mailing of these materials."

"The Postal Service will continue to recommend prosecution whenever the criminal postal obscenity statutes are violated," he added. Nelson noted that 40 indictments were returned against commercial dealers under the criminal statute during the last six months of 1970.

Mr. Nelson added that the decision left unaffected the 1967 Pandering Advertisement Statute, upheld by the Supreme Court last spring, which prohibits mailings to individuals in violation of prohibitory orders issued by the Postmaster General at their request. It also did not affect a section of the Postal Reorganization Act, to become effective February 1, which prohibits the mailing of sexually oriented advertisement to persons who have listed their names with the Postal Service as wishing not to receive mail of this character.

Sen. McGovern Speaks In Memory Of Dr. King

Statement by U. S. Senator George McGovern (D-S. D.) in commemoration of the birthday of the Reverend Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., was a man whose spirit stands as a monument to a cause ordained for mankind, a man whose words and life stand in judgement of the racism, poverty and war in our world today.

Martin Luther King wanted America to come home from the bitterness and evil of racism to the dignity of brotherhood and love. And yet today, schools are still segregated, and racism persists in hiring practices, housing, and many other areas of our national life.

Martin Luther King wanted America to come home from the despair and suffering of poverty. And yet today, some leaders propose that we build an unnecessary and extravagant supersonic airplane, while at the same time, thousands starve to death every day throughout the world, and millions are homeless, jobless, undernourished, and sick.

Martin Luther King was a man of peace, and yet we still spend billions of dollars on an immoral war in Asia, but fail to devote nearly enough to education, health, job training, and housing.

Because of the greatness of Martin Luther King because his cause is paramount on the national agenda, and because he pursued his goals with the tactics of compassion, I will join with others to sponsor a bill in the United States Senate to make his birthday a national holiday. His birthday should be celebrated as a living memorial to the ideals of justice, brotherhood, and peace for which Dr. King worked and gave his life, and so that all of us will be reminded of our solemn responsibility to fulfill those ideals.

I believe we shall overcome the racism, poverty and war which Martin Luther King worked against. But to do that, each of us must dedicate himself to his noble dream, that "one day little black boys and little white boys, little black girls and little white girls will walk hand in hand up the mountaintop of brotherhood together."

Let us realize that dream. Then, in the words of his favorite hymn, the despised and the suffering of the earth shall be "free at last, thank God almighty, free at last."

LET JOE W. SPALDING BE THE MAN YOU LEAN ON IN A LONELY HOUR

What makes it lonely is not just the suddenness, the sense of loss, the grief. It is also the bewilderment, the strangeness, the wondering what to do.

Your own need then...at once...is someone to lean on. Someone who can replace confusion with calm, doubts with certainty, questions with answers. Your own need then...is someone who knows what to do...and goes about doing it quietly, gently, sympathetically, with efficiency and dignity.

This is what I have been trained by education, apprenticeship and experience to be...and to do. This is my mission. To be an island of calm. To counsel. To help. To reassure.

My experience and understanding make it easy for you to make the decisions you alone must make about the type of service, where it will be held. Putting at your disposal the facilities of the funeral home and taking care of an almost unbelievable multitude of necessary details.

But beyond all the necessary physical things doing what the family invariably remembers, and treasures most is that here, in their lonely hour, was a man they could lean on, depend on.
