

JOE NEAL

JOE NEAL FILES FOR STATE SENATE

Joe Neal, a long time resident of Clark County has filed his candidacy for the State Senate in district #4. This district was created through reapportionment of the State by the Legislature in 1971, a position that Neal had advocated over the years.

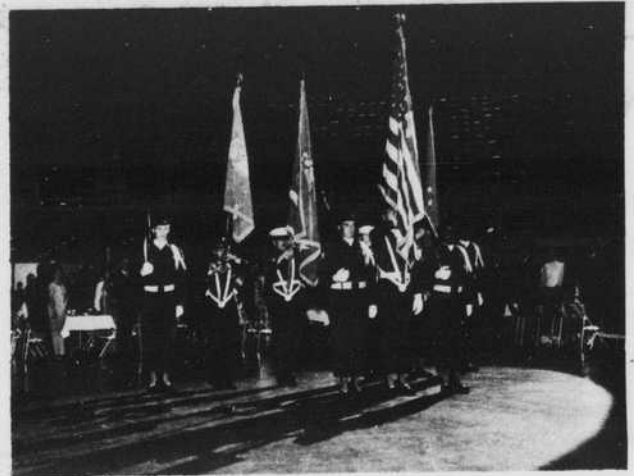

Neal is head of the largest poverty program in Las Vegas. He is chairman of the Economic Opportunity Board. Neal is also chairman of the Greater Las Vegas Plan, a plan that is designed to bring 18% of the minorities into the Building Trades Unions.

Neal is known for his courage in taking on the Building Trades Unions and the hotels when they would not open up their employment doors to Blacks.

Neal's work in employment has generated approximately six million dollars annually in wages and salaries that come into this community.

Neal believes in confronting issues that effect people of this community, and he has remained firm in his quest to have this community recognized as a place to be SOMEBODY.

NELLIS HONOR GUARD

The Nellis Honor Guard posts colors at the annual military appreciation gala sponsored by the Las Vegas Chamber of Commerce, along with members of the Army, Navy and Marines.

In the Las Vegas area there is an organization that exists for the sole purpose of enhancing formal ceremonies or social activities.

This organization is composed of men who are willing to donate their time for nothing more than the satisfaction in knowing they contributed to the harmonious rapport now existing between Nellis AFB and the Las Vegas area.

This group of devoted men operate under the title of the Nellis Honor Guard, a team that has functioned in the Las Vegas community since 1966.

Not only do they perform in our community but in the outlying areas of Nevada and in California, Utah and Arizona.

They have grown from eight men in 1966 to its present membership of 40.

Among the events they have participated in are: the opening of the International Hotel, the opening of the North Las Vegas Library, the opening of several grammar schools, every parade our community has had since 1966, and of course honoring the deceased men whether active or retired, whenever requested.

But these are only a few of the types of functions that the Honor Guard performs at. They also perform for civic conventions and banquets, and social banquets.

The Nellis Honor Guard is an ever progressing unit that thrives on being able to do more, and their foresight supports this, for they are working on instituting a 12 to 60 man precision drill team that will enable them to become even more diversified.

If any civic organization or social group is having a ceremony that could be enhanced by the Nellis Honor Guard a request for the group may be sent to:

Nellis AFB Honor Guard
c/o Nellis Information Office
Nellis AFB, Nev. 89110

However, they would appreciate at least seven days prior notice.

growth of bowling in our affluent society.

Bowling can be an individual, dual, team, or community recreational activity. This diversity sets it apart from many other sports. A competitor may choose to bowl several lines on a weekend by himself, just to loosen up after a hard week's work. This solitary recreative activity benefits him in an entirely different way from his dual or team competition on a week-night bowling league, in an environment of competition, specific rules, and social expectations.

In conclusion, I feel bowling has become an institution in our own way of life, primarily because it appeals to many different people.

It fits different needs - from intense competition to social and recreational activity.

Each bowler's score or average is uniquely his own and provides a constant source for evaluation and self-competition. Bowling can be taken as seriously or as lightly as you want to take it.

My personal feelings toward bowling are very serious. I feel someday soon bowling may reach the international level of Olympic competition.
