

SCLC's Andrew Young Wins Primary for Congress

The Andrew Young family.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA — Andrew Young has taken a giant stride toward becoming the South's first black Congressman since 19th Century Reconstruction by winning the Democratic nomination for Georgia's 5th District in the primary election August 8.

Rev. Young, a nationally respected civil rights leader who is Executive Vice President of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, overwhelmed three opponents in this District which encompasses metropolitan Atlanta.

The winner received 35,226 votes, or 60.7 per cent, to 18,845 (32.4 per cent) for white Alderman Wyche Fowler, 2,995 (5.1 per cent) for black Alderman H.D. Dodson, and 996 (1.6 per cent) for white businessman Howell Smith.

Rev. Young is an outstanding example of movement leadership working in the political arena to strengthen the power of black and other progressive forces.

Andrew Young is a long-time close associate of the late Dr.

Martin Luther King, Jr., and of Dr. King's successor, SCLC President Dr. Ralph David Abernathy.

The Young campaign really began in 1970 when Rev. Young ran for the same Congressional seat, against great odds. He won both the primary and primary run-off, but was edged out in the general election.

Since then, he has served as Chairman of the Atlanta Community Relations Commission. Rev. Young in the 1960's was full-time Executive Director of SCLC and now fills the office of Executive Vice President.

This year he ran so strongly in the primary that a run-off is not necessary, and the next and final test of the Young campaign will be the general election in November.

Throughout the campaign, Rev. Young has stressed issues of vital concern to urban communities, including quality education, race relations, rebuilding of the cities, transportation, and tax reform.
