We've Been WONDERING

WHY? (quote) Whoever is mean is his youth runs a great risk of becoming a scoundrel in riper years; meanness leads to villiany with fatal attraction.(unquote) Cherbuliez

WHY? (quote) The highest order of mind is accused of folly, as well as the lowest. Nothing is thoroughly approved but mediocrity. The majority has established this, and it fixes its fangs on whatever gets beyond it either way. (unquote) Paeal.
?????

WHY? (quote) Some men possess means that are great but fritter them away in executive conceptions that are little; others, who can form great conceptions, attempt to carry them into execution with little means. These two descriptions of men might succeed if united, but kept asunder, both fail. It is a rare thing to find a combination of great means and of great conceptions in one mind.(unquote) Colton.
?????

WHY? (quote) Those who are insane generally reason correctly but they reason from false assumptions and on wrong principles.(unquote)
?????

WHY? (quote) Beasts, birds, and insects, even to the minutest and meanest of their kinds, act with the unerring providence of instinct; man, the while, who possesses a higher faculty, abuses it, and therefore goes blundering on. They, by their unconscious and unhesitating obedience to the laws of nature, fulfill the end of their existence; he, in willful neglect of the laws of God, loses sight of the end of his, (unquote) Southey.
?????

WHY? (quote) The violence and evil of our time have been, viewed collectively, the word of loveless men; impotent men who lust after sadistic power to conceal their failure as lovers; repressed and frustrated men. lamed by unloving parents and seeking revenge by taking refuge in a system which love cannot intrude.....Those who are impotent to love, from Hitler downward, must seek a negative counterpart in hatred and desintegration.(unquote) Lewis Mumford.
?????

WHY? (quote) How little man is; yet, in his own mind how great! He is lord and master of all things, yet scarce can command anything. He is given a freedom of his will; but wherefore? Was it but to torment and perplex him more? How little avails this freedom, if the objects he is to act upon be not as much disposed to obey as he commands (unquote) Burke.
?????

WHY? (quote) There are three kinds of people in the world, the wills, and the won'ts and the can'ts. The first accomplish everything; the second oppose everything; the third fail in everything. (unquote) Electric Magazine.
?????

WHY? (quote) The vainest women is never thoroughly conscious of her beauty till she is loved by the man who sets her own passion vibrating in return. (unquote) George Eliot.
?????

WHY? (quote) All men have frailties; and whoever looks for a friend without imperfections, will never find what he seeks. We love ourselves notwithstanding our faults, and we ought to love our friends in like manner.(unquote) Cyrus.
