game of arrest, arraignment, bail and back on the street again currently prevalent.

Therefore, this office submits the following steps and conditions in recommendation to the County Commission for a course of immediate action. The power we need to enact strict penalty laws for soliciting and resorting and prostitution crimes is contained in NRS 244.357. We need this. The enactment we seek will enable us to enforce the following steps:

- STEP 1: First offense, a $250 fine.
- STEP 2: Second offense, a minimum of 30 days in jail.
- STEP 3: Third offense and beyond, 30 days to six months in jail.

In accordance with these necessary and forceful steps, there should be formed a special vice squad in the Metropolitan Police. We will cooperate with the newly formed Police Commission to secure funds from any available source to get the manpower needed to staff the vice squad.

Effective arrest patterns should be set up. Trial date should be immediate in Justice Court and cooperation from District Court regarding appeals so as to expedite the cases quickly and not have the prostitutes and pimps go through the old revolving door at the County Courthouse.

I stand ready with all of my staff to implement this plan or any other, or combination of plans in order to stop this rapidly growing cancer of prostitution on our Las Vegas environment.

SPECIAL NOTICE

REECO AWARDS 4 YEAR $1,000 SCHOLARSHIP

For the seventh consecutive year, the Reynolds Electrical and Engineering Co., Inc. (REECO) has awarded a $1,000 four-year scholarship to the University of Nevada, Las Vegas to the child of one of its employees who excelled in academic and community activities.

Receiving the grant was Patricia Ann Bailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Bailey. Patricia is a Clark High School graduate.

Patricia's selection was made by the UNLV Scholarship Committee; the basis of which was the academic record of each applicant at their respective high school.

Included in the basis for selection was participation in school and community activities. Among those listed for Patricia, who ranked 58 in a class of 628 were: Human Relations Club, Senior Club Officer, Graduation Committee, production editor of the CHARGER newspaper, Senior Ball Royalty, listed among Who's Who of high school seniors, nominated as one of five Clark seniors for the Outstanding Seniors of America Program, Honor Roll during the four years of high school, Church of God in Christ State Youth Department, Negro History Week Assembly Committee, Junior Prom Royalty, Student Council, Homecoming Committee, Southern Nevada Citizenship-Leadership Conference, Stadium Publicity Committee, Inspirational Choir and 1969 delegate the Nevada State Youth Congress of the churches of God in Christ.

Mr. Elder's termination. He was allegedly fired for being absent from work on May 23rd, 24th, and 25th without valid reasons. However, Mr. Elder had written permission from his supervisor to miss those days. Then, he was told he had been fired for being absent on May 29th. He has a note from his doctor stating he was ill that day.

Mr. Elder said he was willing to meet with Mr. Coleman because he felt their differences could be ironed out, but evidently Mr. Coleman had other ideas. Mr. Elder has filed a complaint with the Las Vegas Police Department.

When POOR PEOPLE PULLING TOGETHER brought this incident to the attention of Mr. Arthur Sartini, Executive Director of the Las Vegas Housing Authority, his comment was that Mr. Coleman had probably been provoked into fighting. Mr. Coleman, when contacted by PPPT said "I thought he might hit me, so I hit him first."

Albert Coleman has not been suspended or admonished. He continues his job as manager of Marble Manor. What do you suppose would happen to any one of us if we attacked some one because we thought he MIGHT do us harm?
