

Community Progressive Liberation School

The Community Progressive Liberation School was designed to inform the (black) students their true history, and their present role in society and in the community. The classes will offer different programs, such as: field trips-individual projects- and projects that the students will complete collectively. They will visit institutions which play an important role in oppressing the community. The students will understand that this, West Las Vegas, is our community and responsibility.

The program was started through a collective effort of certain dedicated members of the community, who felt that the regular school system is slipshod in teaching the community's youth how to (in the future) control their/our own community. The school system in the community should teach students not only a first class education, but, should also teach the students how to use their knowledge to help advance the community's progress.

After talking to many individuals of the community who had a little control over the community's institutions, we finally (with the help of Art Chapman and the Adelliar Guy Center's staff) obtained a place where the school could operate. We appreciate the cooperation of Mr. Chapman and all of the staff. We also appreciate the sacrificial work of which several individuals participated.

The classes will be in progress each weekday from 1:00 p.m. to 3:00 p.m.

"Let's help ourselves and our community progress."
