SPORTS

Basketball superstar Oscar Robertson, who really didn't retire from playing basketball with the Milwaukee Bucks, has signed a long-term network contract with CBS-TV. Robertson, the NBA's all-time leader in assists (9,887) and second behind Wilt Chamberlain in scoring, was having contract squabbles' with the Bucks and became a free agent last week, when his contract expired.

Dead at the age of 20 is Sylvester Williams, a Florida A&M University fullback who collapsed and died on the Tallahassee, Fla., practice field a week ago. University officials say they have no idea what killed Sylvester since he had passed his physical, had no contact or drills on the day he died and because his parents refused to allow an autopsy.

Frightening flashback : former Notre Dame All-America center John

Released by the Boston Celtics because of old age, Art (Hambone) Williams has hooked up with the San Diego Conquistadors of the American Basketball Association. Williams didn't join the National Basketball Association until he was 28.

Pittsburgh Coach Chuck Noll has found his regular season starting quarterback - third year man Joe Gilliam, who just happens to be black. Gilliam led the blitz of the Dallas Cowboys in the Steelers' final exhibition football game, 41-15. He threw two touchdown passes, and had 11 during the pre-season campaign.

"Gilliam will start our regular season opener against Baltimore next Sunday," said Noll. "Really there is no No. 1 quarterback on the team, but Joe has been tremendous in the exhibition season.

Black news is good news

Every day something good can happen to those beautiful ears of yours. It's called Black news. And the way you get next to it is by tuning in a National Black Network station.

Every hour on the hour 18 times a day, (slightly abbreviated schedule on Sunday) you can hear about what's happening in your world. That's because it's news reported and edited by Black people.

Listen to the good news. Black news on the National Black Network.
