

TUNE IN ON CHANNEL 10 SPECIALS

"Hauntingly honest...beautifully communicative and fun," is how one critic describes folk artist John Bassette. Bassette appears in a one-man concert in 'John Bassette...This Time Around,' airing Wednesday, October 9 at 9:30 p.m. on Channel 10.

Bassette's folk music comes to life during a program in the natural environment of a coffee house setting. He is a performer of immense vitality, both in his music and in his physical presence on stage; moving freely, interacting with audience, sharing personal observations. Original songs highlighted during the program include "Next Time Around (I'm gonna be a farmer)," "It's Only Hair," "How I Miss You" and "Something's Happening Here."

"Invitation to a Burglar," the first program in the six-part PBS series Burglar-Proofing, airs Thursday, October 3 at 10:30 p.m. on channel 10.

TV host Kene Holliday has three ex-burglars to help him get the message across. Fred, Pete, and Mike show the kind of mistakes made by residents that help burglars break in.

Mike, a second-story man, demonstrates how posing as a window-washer gained him entrance to suburban homes. Pete, working alone and with a partner, shows how easy it is to break into poorly protected apartments. He also describes how unsuspecting residents provide information about themselves and their neighbors that tell a burglar when to arrive. Fred shows why many inner-city dwellings are prime targets for thieves.

There is no such thing as a completely burglar-proof home, host Holliday explains and cautions. But there are measures viewers can take to help protect themselves and their property. These inexpensive steps, from simply turning the radio up while absent and installing proper locks, deter break-ins because they add the element of time to the thief's plans. And time is the bug-a-boo that discourages a would-be thief from breaking in.

When historians begin their research to pinpoint the one day when the National Football league came of age, they might pick December 28, 1958---the day the Baltimore Colts defeated the New York Giants in the first "sudden death" championship game before a national television audience.

Great moments from this game, regarded by many as the greatest game ever played, will be telecast on PBS's new series, 'The Way It Was', Thursday, October 10 at 8:00 p.m. on the "1958 Colts-Giants NFL Overtime Championship" with Curt Gowdy as host.

Leading the Baltimore team on that day was a new arrival to the NFL---Johnny Unitas, a brash

26 year old quarterback removed from the quasi-pro Bloomfield Rams of the Pittsburgh suburbs. It was the first of many games that was to make Unitas one of gridiron's greatest field generals.

'The Way It Was' reunites Unitas and Ray Berry and another great Colt end, Lenny Moore, to relive that memorable day. The Giants are represented by Superstar Frank Gifford, Kyle Rote, and quarterback Charlie Connerly.

FIRE PREVENTION

In the past four years 72% of our fires in buildings have occurred in the home. When these dwelling fires are broken down, over 50% can be attributed to careless smoking, children with matches, and grease on stoves.

Don't let your home become a part of these statistics. Provide safe receptacles for cigarettes and ashes. Keep matches out of reach of small children and do not leave little ones unattended even for a "quick" trip to the store. When cooking or frying, take care to remain in the kitchen.

Good housekeeping is a vital part of home fire prevention. Has the lack of time prevented you from getting at those storage areas in your home? Don't delay! Get rid of those half full cans of paint on the shelf, oily rags and papers you're storing to give to the ecology drive today! Take all the necessary safety precautions when storing gasoline for your lawn mower. Never fill it in your garage; get outdoors. Check your hot water heater. Is the temperature pressure valve operating properly? Are there mops, brooms, papers and other combustibles stored on the floor where a pilot light could ignite them? Have you taken precautions to see that there is no dust or lint around and under hot water heaters? Take the time - do it today!
