

Black Historical Calendar

Noted Black illustrator Jerry Pickney's paintings of two famous Black frontier lawmen as depicted in the Seagram 1975 Black Historical Calendar -- Henry O. Wagoner and Boss Reeves, both of Oklahoma. Mr. Wagoner was the first Black deputy sheriff of Arapahoe County, serving between 1865 and 1875. He served also as a skilled newspaper correspondent and civil rights activist. Boss Reeves was a dedicated Black man who carved a reputation for himself as a hard-working and skillful member of the Judge Parker Court in Fort Smith, Arkansas during the last decade of the 19th century.

Retirement Group Plans Fall Meetings

Six meetings designed to help older persons with pre-and -post retirement planning are scheduled this fall by the Senior Citizens Resource Center of the University of Nevada, Las Vegas.

Three sessions, which are free and open to the public, will cover the areas of personal security, health, income, consumer education and legal advice.

The meetings are scheduled from 1 to 2 p.m. Tuesdays, Oct. 29-Dec. 3 at the Senior Citizens Center, 100 Arizona Street, Boulder City.

Windsor C. DeCraze, coordinator at the UNLV Senior Citizen Center, will be moderator for the meetings. He said persons age 50 and over should attend the sessions; and whenever possible husband and wife should participate together.

Persons interested in the meetings should contact the Senior Citizens Resource Center, Humanities Building, Room 323, University of Nevada, Las Vegas.
