

EMERGENCY PHONE

A new emergency requirements of the federal government for residents, 385-1900, was made today by the Southern Nevada Emergency Medical Services Council Chairman, Dick Mayne.

He explained the number was not intended to replace, but augment, existing emergency listings and is part of the each state's participation in a nationwide emergency medical program.

Mayne urged homeowners to post the number in a convenient place near the family telephone and encouraged its use in emergencies.

VEGAS MAN CHARGED WITH MURDER

McKinley Coggs, a former custodian for the New Hat 1307 N. "D" St. has been bound over for trial for allegedly shooting a man four times; reloading his gun and shooting the corpse six more times.

Coggs, 27, was ordered Monday to stand trial for murder by Justice of the Peace Roberts Legakes after a preliminary hearing.

Coggs' statement to the police said, Coggs and Frank Richards Jr., of 609 Monroe Ave., had an argument in the New Hat Club on Jan. 21. The disagreement was sparked when Richards brought an unconscious woman into the bar, the statement said. Coggs ordered him to take the woman back outside.

Coggs and Richards left the bar. Coggs got into his truck. Richards started to bang on the side of the truck and flashed a knife, the statement said. Coggs then drew a .38 caliber pistol and shot Richards four times. Coggs then, the statement said, turned the body of Richards over before he reloaded his gun and fired six more times into the limp body.

The statement said Coggs then returned to the bar and began to clean it up. He is being held on $15,000 bail.

CAN JOANNE LITTLE GET A FAIR TRIAL?

Though mortally wounded, all Alligood could think of was getting out of that cell, taking with him the evidence of his foul deed. He grabbed the icepick Ms. Little had dropped on the cot and his pants, but as he attempted to leave the cell, he fell dead.

Miss Little ran to the tiny shack of a stranger who agreed to hide her. With shotguns at the ready, police officers searched the shack several times. The last times the officers searched it one of them sat on an old-fashioned feather mattress for about 30 minutes questioning the owner and nearly suffocated her, because she was under it.

Miss little finally turned herself into the local FBI, claiming self defense. The coroner said, there was clear evidence of recent sexual activity by the jailer. The coroner added, "His shoes were in the corridor, his socks on his feet, but otherwise he was naked from the waist down. In one hand the jailer held his trousers and the other clutched the icepick. Beneath the body was a woman's kerchief."

On Sept. 11, 1974, despite the overtones of the case, Miss Little was indicted for first degree murder by a grand jury. The charge carries a mandatory death penalty in North Carolina, which already has 60 persons on death row.

Miss Little is in dire need of financial help for her defense. Please send your tax-deductible contributions to: The Southern Poverty Law Center 119 South McDonough Srteet, Montgomery, Alabama 36101.

FIVE BLACKS NAMED TO "HALL OF FAME"

WASHINGTON - Five blacks who rose from the ranks of the disadvantaged by acquiring an education and marketable skills in the Job Corps have been named to the Corps' "Hall of Fame." In all, 10, former Corps members were so honored.

Secretary of Labor Peter J. Brennan saluted the 10 former Corps members for "exemplifying those qualities that have made America great" at the observance of the Job Corps' 10th anniversary

Washington, D. C. "These outstanding young men and women are wonderful examples of how the Job Corps has helped hundreds of thousands of disadvantaged American youth improve their lives," he said.

Those named to the Hall of Fame were selected from among thousands of entries submitted by committees from 60 Job Corps centers. Job Corps Director John H. Stetson and his staff made the final selections.

Names of the 10 persons selected will be inscribed on a plaque which will hang in a place of honor in the new Department of Labor headquarters building, Third Street and Constitution Avenue, N. W., Washington, D.C.
