GETTING OVER

There's a word and a color that we care for, Everyday we give birth to one or more. The word is black, and that's a fact! Whites get mad and put on an act. They put black down and think they are brave, Flunky is out! and it ain't no slaves. Blacks have been put down and also abused, Whites get together and still are confused. We are proud of what we are, The race can't change, not even the stars. Blacks have been through a lot of pain, The coming inflation is a horrible strain. We have come a long way, to fall back down, We should get together and stop acting like clowns! The life for blacks has always been tough, Don't let whites make it even rough. Being together is what we need, We work the same jobs, so why can't we succeed?

BLACK SLANG!

Blacks have a lot of slang terms that they use, Whites try to copy and the terms are abused. We see our people clean and neat, Ask what's happening, when we see them on the street. They shake hands and give a little rap, It's miles between and a generation gap. We try to understand what the older people mean, It's hard to do, so it's only a dream. Maybe the younger ones will understand one day, But how can they do it, if they don't listen to what they say.

COMING BACK!

Blacks have come along way, since the slavery days, We are pulling ourselves together in so many different ways. The signs use to read colored to the rear, Blacks have passed that line, with no more to fear. Today we share in the same place, With different colors, not only our race. We work under the white man and hope to over come, Some of us are black, and still Uncle Tom! We have blacks that are in high places, They made it their self without white faces. Blacks have organizations and black preachers, We go to school to learn, but only by white teachers. We'll have to succeed one of these days, We hope to over come, but in our own ways.

Blacks do what they feel, and they have their own bag, We keep ourselves up to stop looking like hags. Blacks see what happens with other black brothers, They try to get revenge by hurting others. We can't get over without using our mind, We'll never make it if we take from our own kind. Blacks will get over without running a race, We'll start together at a stately pace.
