RENEWAL TO REVIVAL & SURVIVAL

CHICAGO, ILL. (UMC) -- A radical shift in emphasis from "renewal" to "revival" and "survival" by Black Methodists for Church Renewal (BMCR) was proposed here March 19-22.

"From this moment on let us...aim to lay on Methodist the full impact of what it means to be Christians and Black" and "set our churches a-flame with Black Christian righteousness and Black Christian discipleship," the Rev. Clayton E. Hammond, Dover, De., said in his keynote address as chairman at the annual convention of the denomination's oldest and largest minority caucus.

"We must deliver the race problem into the hands of the white majority (because) they created (it) in the first place," Mr. Hammond said in the address which frequently was punctuated by "Amen" and "Right On" from the 380 persons registered for the eighth BMCR convention. "We have learned a bitter lesson that black people cannot solve the race problem."

"As a part of our Christian responsibility where and when we can, we will help to eliminate from our church every vestige of racism, injustice, inequity and discrimination," the chairman continued, "but from this moment in our history our priority has moved from church renewal to Black revival."

More than 800 persons attended a "Chicago Night" banquet and heard Lerone Bennett, Jr., prominent black writer and lecturer, assert that the "clout and prayer" of the black church must be "heard in the market place." However, Dr. Bennett added that "rapping alone will not save us -- only power can speak to power, only institution can speak to institutions."

One place for the black church to begin, the writer said, is to "lead a boycott against everything South African." He also asserted the "blacks constantly are being denied the opportunity to do what Irish and other ethnic groups do in their own behalf."
