

Caesars Palace Brunswick $50,000 Showdown

The glamorous world of gambling and entertainment and the equally exciting world of sports are getting married again at Caesars Palace.

At 2 a.m. on Saturday, October 11, Johnny Carson will bow-off his midnight show in the hotel's Circus Maximus theatre-restaurant before a capacity crowd of over 1,000 people. Immediately thereafter, the Circus Maximus, one of the world's most famed nightclubs, will be converted into a bowling alley! That's right, two lanes set up by Brunswick, for CBS-TV "Sports Spectacular" titled "Brunswick $50,000 Showdown," which will air that afternoon, live, beginning at 1:30 p.m. Las Vegas time.

The show's title tells it like it is. The match will pit the country's leading female amateur and the top female professional, $50,000 winner -take-all. The $50,000 is the single largest prize in bowling history.

Pro bowlers Judy Soutar of Kansas City, Mo., and Vesma Grinfelds of San Francisco, Calif., will meet in a final roll-off on the October 11 show, with the winner facing top amateur bowler Carolyn Anderton of Fort Worth, Tex., in a single match for all the money.

Mrs. Soutar, the 1973 Woman Bowler of the Year, and Miss Grinfelds, winner of over a half-a-dozen major bowling titles, survived 41 grueling games of qualifying play against 10 other top pros August 5-8 at Brunswick Deerbrook Lanes in Deerfield Ill., to win their way to Las Vegas.

Mrs. Anderton averaged 206 per game during the 1973-74 bowling season to lead all amateur women bowlers competing in WIBC sanctioned leagues that season and currently holds a 200-plus average, best in the country.

CBS sportscaster Brent Musburger will handle the play-by-play of the $50,000 showdown. Tony Vera, one of the top sports directors in the country, will produce and direct the telecast.
