BRYANI WINS A MEDAL

Rosalyn Bryant

Rosalyn Bryant first came to Las Vegas in 1975. At the time she had no sponsor and was brought to Las Vegas by Voice publisher, Lawrence Albert. Ms. Bryant set new records when she participated in the UNLV Invitational Track Meet. Mr. Albert also made it possible for Ms. Bryant to participate in other track meets around the country.

It is with pride that we report the continued success of Ms. Bryant. As a member of the U.S. Olympic team, Rosalyn won a medal in team competition. The women's 400 meter relay team won the Silver Medal in the event. Ms. Bryant ran the anchor leg of the relay. Cheers for Ms. Bryant, her team-mates and Publisher, Lawrence Albert.

Church Files Lawsuit Against North Las Vegas Police Department

A suit has been filed against the North Las Vegas Police Department (NLVPD) by the Church of Scientology, calling for the release of all files being maintained by the police department on the religious organization.

The suit, filed in District Court for Nevada, was necessary, according to church spokesman, "Because all other administrative remedies have failed to secure the release of all information being maintained on us."

The suit further states that "The false and misleading information contained in the investigative reports has been selectively leaked and disclosed to the media and other persons in violation of the Petitioner's right under the Fourth Amendment to the United States Constitution to enjoy privacy in pursuance of its religious function and activities."

"Our church has been harassed for over 25 years by false information maintained in government files. It is the practice of these agencies to distribute to many other agencies copies of their material, with the result that in short order every major agency in the country has the same material. The job of cleaning up these falsehoods is long and arduous, and is only complicated by the unwillingness of agencies such as the NLVPD who refuse to help us see that all information is correct, and require us to resort to litigation," O'Brien continued.

The Church of Scientology has filed over 2,000 Freedom of Information (FOI) requests to numerous government agencies in order to combat the wide dissemination of misinformation to these other agencies, and has been offering their assistance and experience to other churches, who may have the same problem, in using the FOI to see their files.

"Any organization could be victim to false information, particularly socially reform minded churches. Our assistance to them will make them more able to continue to pursue their social actions unimpeded by a misled government agency. Then we will be able to see a reduction of crime and drug abuse, and the beginnings of real trust for self and others in the community," O'Brien concluded.
