"Great American Fall Festival"

German beer, Olympic gold medal winner Mark Spitz, wandering minstrels, jazz bands and a national cross country track meet are just a few of the activities lined up for the "Great American Fall Festival" at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas.

"We're expecting some 15,000 people here for the three-day event," says Richard Cole, chairman of the newly-formed Student Association of UNLV. Plans are under way now for the festival which is set for Sept. 24, 25 and 26.

The festival is the first activity planned by a new organization composed of several UNLV student social groups and the Consolidated Students of UNLV.

Cole said Mark Spitz, holder of a record seven-gold medals in swimming, will officiate at a high dive championship and aqua-show on Sept. 24 as part of the festival. The event will be at the UNLV McDermott Physical Education complex.

"Most of the activities will be outside in the plaza area of the complex," Cole said. "We will have food, entertainment, arts and crafts exhibits and plenty of action."

The festival will begin each day at approximately noon, but each night the plaza area will be turned into a German pub for the annual Las Vegas German Oktoberfest. The student association is hosting this annual fest sponsored by the Las Vegas German-American Club, complete with German beer, bratworst, and Franz Praxl's German Band from California. Admission will be charged for both day events and the Oktoberfest.

A Citation For A Press Guide

The sports information director at UNLV has earned a citation from the College Sports Information Directors of America for a press guide he compiled last season for the women's basketball team at UNLV.

Dominic Clark 27, received the honor from the 650-member organization at its annual workshop recently in Cincinnati, Ohio.

The 24-page booklet which was distributed to sports writers and editors throughout the country, was judged the second finest brochure on an individual women's intercollegiate sport.

The category contained entries from all women sports, including basketball, tennis, golf, track and field, gymnastics and swimming.

The citation for the best brochure went to Delta State College, a school which has won the national women's basketball championship for the past two years.
