HOWARD JONES FOR JUSTICE OF THE PEACE

AND COME TO
HOWARD JONES NIGHT
AT THE NEW TOWN TAVERN

WHEN ELECTED JUSTICE OF THE PEACE, Howard Jones, 33-year-old deputy district attorney in Clark County, pledges to always be fair and impartial in hearing all evidence before rendering a decision.

"Because of my experience as a counselor in a children's home," Jones states, "I know something about the problems that affect young people. I realize that every young person needs the right kind of guidance and where the courts are concerned, that may mean the ability to work with the family and community agencies to help a young man or woman who got off to a bad start."

Commenting on the backlog in the justice courts, Jones said that it often takes eight months to a year just to get a preliminary hearing in Clark County, and "That kind of backlog denies people justice, pure and simple - if a man has to wait a year just to get someone to hear his case, as sometimes happens, that's a slap at the constitution which guarantees a speedy trial."

HOWARD JONES - for Justice of the Peace - is the only white candidate that considered bringing his campaign party to the West Side. Sept. 12 Jones will hold his "HOWARD JONES NIGHT AT THE NEW TOWN TAVERN"
