Watch The Front Sight.

NELLIS AFB, Nev. — "Watch the front sight. Breathe. Squeeze the trigger gently," explained Sgt. Larry McLean, 57th Security Police Squadron, after knocking off overall first place in Senior Division of the Tactical Air Command Security Police Rifle and Pistol Matches held here last week. A1C James A. Giampeeto won overall third place in the Junior Division. Both will join other TAC representatives at the worldwide matches to be held at Vanderberg AFB, Calif.

SGT. LARRY McLEAN takes aim with the M-16 rifle, showing the style which earned overall first place in the Tactical Air Command Rifle and Pistol Competition.

Sergeant McLean scored 737 with the .38 revolver and 896 with the M-16 rifle, taking first in both events. Airman Giampeeto won sixth place with the .38 revolver and second with the M-16, taking the overall third spot with a combined score of 1690.

A1C JAMES A. GIAMPEETRO takes aim with the .38 caliber model 15 combat masterpiece. He was third overall in the Junior Division.

BACKPACKING

A two-day hiking trip through the back-country of Zion National Park will be the final event in the beginning backpacking course starting Oct. 13 at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas.

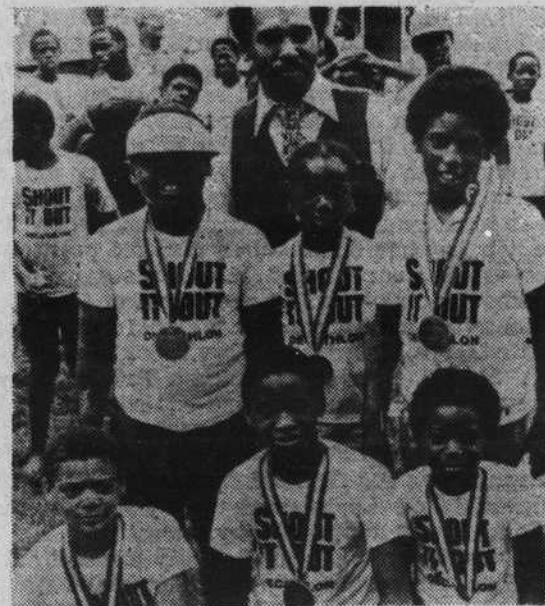

Instructor Robert Schaumberg, will conduct Wednesday evening classes through Nov. 3 and take students on a field trip Oct. 30 and to Zion National Park on Nov. 6 and 7.

The class emphasizes wilderness appreciation, ecological considerations, equipment and care, food selection and safety.

Schaumberg, a local resident who has done extensive scouting and camping in Nevada, Southern Utah and California, said he is looking forward to introducing students to the outdoor wilderness.

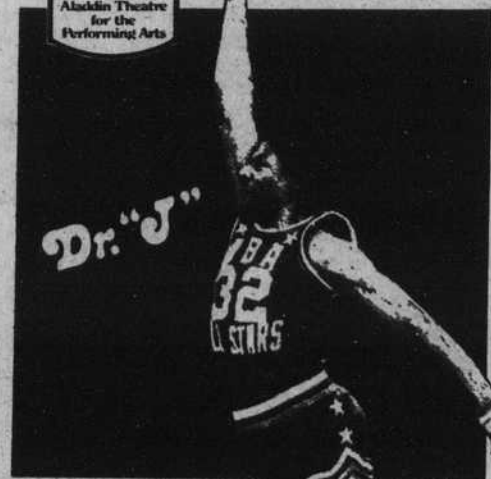

Experienced backpackers are welcome to join the group on the weekend trip to Zion if space is available.
