The elegant Supremes, reigning female vocal group in America, return to Soul Train this weekend in the company of Al Hudson and the Soul Partners who are making their debut appearance on television's nationally syndicated dance show.

The "new" Supremes, Mary Wilson, the only holdover from the original group, Scherrie Payne and Susaye Green set the pace with "You're My Driving Wheel," "You Are the Heart of Me" and "Come Into My Life."

The first to make popular the "Motown Sound," the Supremes have remained on top for fifteen years, selling close to 100 million records.

Al Hudson and his backup group, the Soul Partners, perform "I Got A Notion" and "Disco Lover." Hudson, who composes as well as sings, first gained attention in Detroit as a finalist on radio station WCHB's annual talent show which has served as a springboard to fame for such artists as Stevie Wonder and Ronnie McNeir.

FOXY FIREBRAND -- LOLA FALANA, one of the brightest stars on the current Hollywood scene, guests with Bob Hope in "Texaco Presents Bob Hope's All-Star Christmas Special," airing Monday, Dec. 13, 8:30 - 10 p.m. (ET) on NBC-TV.
