World War II Black History -- The first copy of a new history of black race relations in the World War II Army Air Forces is presented to Air Force Chief of Staff General David C. Jones (left), by Chief of the Office of Air Force History Major General John W. Huston. Chief Master Sergeant of the Air Force Thomas N. Barnes (center) was also present at the Pentagon ceremony. The 123-page volume, titled 'Blacks in the Army Air Forces During World War II: The Problem of Race Relations', will be sold at Government Printing Offices bookstores for $2.40. February issuance of the volume by the Office of Air Force History coincides with observance of Black History Month throughout the Air Force. Author of the work is Maj. Alan M. Osur, an associate professor of history, United States Air Force Academy, Colorado Springs, Colo.

V*A FACTS

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following are representative questions answered daily by VA counselors. Full information is available at any VA office.

Q -- I am a veteran receiving a VA pension. I am also attending school under the GI Bill. Do I report my VA educational assistance as income on my annual income questionnaire?

A -- Yes. VA educational assistance is considered income for this benefit. You may deduct tuition, fees and related educational expenses from the amount of educational assistance received.

Q -- What is the amount payable for the annual clothing allowance for a disabled veteran?

A -- Recently enacted legislation increased the clothing allowance to $190.

Q -- How much of my educational entitlement will I use if I enroll in a correspondence course?

A -- Entitlement is reduced by one month for each $292 allowance paid. For further clarification, contact your nearest VA office.

Q -- Is it true that veterans who served after World War II and before the Korean Conflict are now eligible for home loan benefits?

A -- Effective Oct. 1, 1976, those with active duty after July 25, 1947, and prior to June 27, 1950, who served more than 180 days under conditions other than dishonorable or discharged with less service for a service-connected disability, became eligible for home loan benefits.
