Al Green, now a modern-day evangelist, and the Fatback Band are Don Cornelius' special guests this weekend on Soul Train, television's popular syndicated dance show.

Green, one of the most popular singers of this decade, performs "Keep Me Crying," "Have A Good Time," and "I Tried To Tell Myself."

Since dedicating his Full Gospel Tabernacle in Memphis last December, Green's stage performances combine lyrics, music and dancing in a rhythm-and-blues format which wins as many converts as his sermons.

The Fatback Band, one of the most successful disco groups on the East Coast, applies its steady, throbbing beat to "Bus Stop" and "Double Dutch." Led by Bill Curtis, drummer, and percussion teacher, the band always records to a live audience, allowing their reaction to dictate the mood.

Soul Train is sponsored by Johnson Products Co. and Chicago, leading black manufacturer of hair care products and cosmetics.

ALEXIS M. HERMAN, nominated by President Carter as director of the Women's Bureau of the U.S. Department of Labor. A native of Mobile, she is widely recognized for her work to elevate the status of women.
