

How to get yourself a good lawyer... Free.

Here's how to get yourself a very good lawyer, and it won't cost you a thing... except a few minutes of your time on May 3rd. His name is Harland Hubbard, and he wants to be your city attorney. The city attorney functions as legal advisor to your City Commission, and with a city-county merger imminent, that job will become even more important in the years ahead. After 25 years as a lawyer, Harland Hubbard wants to dedicate his experience and his energy to serving as your legal voice in city government. It's a big job. Let's get a big man to do it. We need Harland Hubbard as city attorney.

Hubbard For City Attorney

CONCERT SERIES HONORS LAS VEGAS JAZZ MONTH

May is jazz month in Las Vegas! In honor of LAS VEGAS JAZZ MONTH, a special series of jazz concerts throughout the community will be sponsored by the City of Las Vegas Department of Cultural Services. The special concert series, entitled 'Las Vegas and All That Jazz' is co-sponsored by the Musicians' Performance Trust fund of the American Federation of Musicians (AFM), Local 369, Jack Foy, President.

The 'Las Vegas and All That Jazz' series, which will be presented free to the public, likewise seeks to educate as well as entertain. The series was planned with the cooperation of the Las Vegas Jazz Society and the Allied Arts Council. Each concert will feature major milestones in the history of jazz from the streets of New Orleans to the influence of jazz in today's rock and popular music. Jay Cameron, of the Las Vegas Jazz Society, will narrate each concert and explain the various forms of music that mark the ongoing progression of jazz throughout its history.

The 'Las Vegas and All That Jazz' series will continue through the month of May with Wednesday concerts at City Hall and in City parks on Saturdays and Sundays.

Complete schedules of 'Las Vegas and All That Jazz' concert dates and times are available by calling the City of Las Vegas Department of Cultural Services office at Whipple Center, 821 Las Vegas Boulevard North, 386-6386.

"BLACK JOURNAL" CALLS RACIAL HONESTY THE LAST PROBLEM FOR THE 20TH CENTURY ON "THE BLACK PRESENCE: A MATTER OF LEGITIMACY" ---- WEEK MAY 1

New York --- The theme of this year's BLACK JOURNAL series has been "The Black Presence." In its ninth season -- making it the longest-running national Black public affairs program on television --- BLACK JOURNAL reviews the issues and topics examined by the 1977 BLACK JOURNAL series, how they reflect "The Black Presence" concept, and the role played by the series for both Blacks and Whites.

The "Black Presence" edition of BLACK JOURNAL will be distributed nationally by the Public Broadcasting Service to its member stations the week of Sunday, May 1, 1977 (Important: Please check local PBS stations for correct area broadcast time).

Produced by WNET/Channel 13, New York, Black Journal is produced with the assistance of a grant from Pepsi Cola Company.

"The real challenge to Blackness in the last quarter of the 20th century is legitimacy," BLACK JOURNAL's host and executive producer Tony Brown said. "Slavery has gone by the wayside and racism is grudgingly following, but the effects of both are still with us. In our own small way, here in this studio, we fight the remaining injustices by bringing into focus issues and personalities not traditionally allowed on TV.

"By legitimacy, I mean that the Black presence must be represented in the same way the White presence is, based on the following assumption: Blacks are just like White --- most of us are average, some geniuses with a liberal sprinkling of fools."

"The Black Presence: A Matter of Legitimacy," features excerpts from this season's programs, and a sampling of press and public comment on BLACK JOURNAL'S ninth season.

Our mini-conference this past Saturday night was so interesting. I want to thank all of you who took the time from your busy weekends to attend and make it a success. Lt. Governor Dymally, of California, spoke of the need for the poor, minorities, and women to organize and group together to achieve a better life for all. He said that the demonstrations and the activities of the '60's brought about some changes, but now is not the time to rest and become apathetic. We must continue to fight the battles, working together, and not becoming discouraged at the setbacks. Change can come about through concerted group effort. This seemed to be the theme throughout the entire meeting - everyone seemed in agreement on this one issue. Carol Burris, Director for the National Women's Lobby in Washington, D.C., informed us as to the mood in Congress at the National level, painting a rather pessimistic view of the future painting a rather pessimistic view of the future or Blacks, women, and other minorities. She also stressed the need to organize, band together, forget about personality differences and ego trips lest we lose what little gains have been made, and more. The power structure in Washington still leans heavily in favor of big business - and it appears that the next few years will not be too different from the Nixon/Ford Administrations of the past. This was the general theme of our panelists as well. It is most important that we not remain complacent and apathetic. There is a better life within our reach - but it is up to us to reach out for it - and that means working and organizing and re-organizing ourselves.

One of the first steps in this re-organizing process will be the International Women's Year conference coming up June 17-19. It will be here that the seeds will be sown for future action in dealing with the needs of women and minorities. I will be telling you more of this important conference in my next columns. I feel that it is urgent that you attend as much of this conference as is possible. The cost is $12.50 for the entire three days, but don't let that stop you - there are funds set aside for low-income women to participate on a scholarship basis. Forms are available at the Operation Life office at 400 W. Jackson St. or you can call for further information at 648-0012.

I would like to clarify something for those of you who read my column in last week's issue of the VOICE, Friday, April 22, 1977. An article appeared in the same space as my column about a candidate for City Attorney, a Harland C. Hubbard. Some of you may have gotten the wrong impression that I was endorsing this person. Well, I would like to set you straight. I do not know Mr. Hubbard, have never seen or heard of him before. The only thing that I know about him is the fact that he is a Republican. My family tradition and political philosophy is completely tied to the Democratic Party - I have never crossed party lines to endorse any Republicans and I am not beginning to now. I cannot in good faith endorse a Republican, much less on I don't even know anything about.

I want to continue to remind you of the services available at OPERATION LIFE - the free milk and other foods through the WIC program and Health Care through the Jackson St. Clinic, as well as child care. These things are here for YOU - come take advantage of them. Our WIC program has been expanded to include some low-income families. Call us at 648-0012 or come in to the office at 400 W. Jackson St. for further information.

Have a good week and I'll be talking to you next week more about the IWY conference in June.
