WORDS OF LIFE

Biblical Inspiration

For The Week

"Come; for all is now ready."
—Luke 14:17

1. We must prepare for most things. But it is not necessarily so with God. The only preparation we need is to "turn," to "come," or to "accept." God places no other provisions on us as we are invited into His household. Come! "Come to me, all you who are weary." "Come, rejoice with me." "But come!"

2. God's call is enticing. Especially is this so as the years advance. It was Benjamin Franklin in his latter years who said aptly: "The longer I live, the more I am convinced that God governs in the affairs of men." We need to turn to God. All other plans and purposes soon prove to be insufficient for our needs.

3. God's feast is ready. We hear a lot these days about things being "ready." God's feast is "ready" in that it is now in session. God's feast is "ready" in that there is room for us. God's feast is "ready" in that there is no other feast like His!

"Come; for all is now ready."
