SCLC BACKS REV. WILSON TO HEAD CETA

S.C.L.C. had a meeting on Tuesday evening and recommended that Al Lippett be removed as head of CETA and be replaced with Rev. I. W. Wilson.

Notices were sent out to all councilmen of the area and Ron Lurie was the only one who responded at all, and he sent a letter of regrets that he was unable to attend, as he had another commitment.

The S.C.L.C. feels that the person in charge of CETA should be a black person who has the interest of the black community at heart, not some other minority group who does not care about the Black Community. Al Lippett is already under investigation, so S.C.L.C. feels this is the best time to say who they want to head the CETA program.

S.C.L.C. plans to bring this matter to a show-down at a meeting of the governing board of CETA at 9 A.M., October 12 in the conference room of Mayor Bill Briare's office in City Hall.

The investigation of Lippett stems from the information that CETA pumped more than $13,000 into the Delmonico Neighborhood Association without any followup. The Delmonico Neighborhood Association has since been abandoned.

CETA is supposed to be for the black people, as well as other minority groups, but it seems as tho all the other groups come first with the blacks at the bottom of the totum pole.

Another candidate that would be a good man to head the CETA program would be Enoch Matthews, a present Ceta employee, who was in the management end, but has been demoted to a field representative. He has excellent qualifications to be head of CETA, since he is already associated with the organization and knows most of the problems.

Enoch Matthews has been recommended to Mayor Braire as a candidate for the position of Assistant City Manager.

President Jimmy Carter and Rev. Martin Luther King, Sr. shared the podium at the 113th anniversary service of Zion Baptist Church in Washington, D.C. In introducing Rev. King as guest minister for the event, the President spoke of the King family's influence:

It is a rare occasion when one or two people or a small family can turn the world upside down. But if there has been one small group that have changed the consciousness of the world, that have changed the habits and attitudes and customs and the mistakes of a great nation like our own, that have offered equality and freedom to millions of people, black and white, Americans and others, it is the family of the Martin Luther Kings. The President also expressed his gratitude for the continuing support his fellow Georgian had shown:

I am always eager to hear him preach. I value his friendship. I came from Plains, Georgia, as a candidate for the highest elective office in the world. Not many people knew who I was. And I was elected to a great extent because Martin Luther King, Sr., was my friend. He had confidence in me

. . . . And when I stumbled and fell and made a series of mistakes and the whole structure of my campaign was in doubt, I went back to Atlanta, Georgia, and I stood up and held my hand and let the world see it. And that was the turning point of my own campaign. Approximately 1,500 people attended the worship service. An additional 1,000 gathered outside the church to greet the President and Rev. King.
