There was a time, about five years ago, when Ben Vereen would sneak off from the set of "Funny Lady" which was filming in Hollywood and fly to Las Vegas just to watch Liza Minnelli act at the Riviera. Seated obscurely in the back of the Versailles Theatre, he dreamt of the day he could do an act in Las Vegas.

The dream came true this week when Vereen and co-headliner Joan Rivers opened at the Riv before a capacity crowd and captivated the first nighters with a smash performance which heralded the news of another major star in the Riviera's growing family of top entertainers.

A gifted singer and dancer, Vereen also possesses that rare intangible known as "Box office magic." Through a combination of top Broadway roles, choice film assignments, a smash appearance in "Roots" and other TV triumphs, he is approaching the pinnacle of his career. His show reflects his amazing versatility and talents.
