THANKS DICK! Says Bill Flangas (right) to KORK-TV sportscaster Dick Gregg. Flangas, with the Southern Nevada Independent Youth Athletic Association, presented the plaque to Gregg on behalf of the S.N.I.Y.A.A. for the sportscaster's untiring effort to promote little league events throughout the Las Vegas area.

YOUTH "HAM" - 15-year-old Rick Ogden keys message in Morse code. The Rancho High School student successfully passed the general class F.C.C. exam, and is now a licensed amateur radio operator. He aspires to a career in electronics.

TITLE I STUDENT - One of the 2,802 students in grades K-12 participating in the Title I Federal Program is counseled by a parent and a family aide. (Left to right), assistant family aide Elsa Samuels, student Bobby Wilkins and Glenda Reich, a parent.
