SOLAR FIELD TRIP

STUDENT-MADE CRAFTS ON DISPLAY

HAWAII BOUND

Members of the Bonanza High School choral group pause at McCarran Airport to look at a poster before boarding their chartered plane to Hawaii. While visiting the Islands, the 48 member group will perform at several community functions. They will also take in the sights, including a tour of Pearl Harbor, during their eight-day trip. Pictured, L-R, are Bruce E. Caad, Kimm Wade, Steven Jordan and Kim Jordan.
