

It's That Time of The Year Again!

Well, it's that time of year once again for taking a break from the job and getting away from it all! Yes, it's vacation time.

Of course, many will travel to cities all across the country, while others are planning exciting adventures right here at home.

Ladies, before the end of your vacation be sure to have that special gentleman take you to the lake for a Lakestyle Party, for a little summer fun.

If you're a bit undecided on what to wear, why not try a Sundress? The strapless "bare truth" look will make a hit at any party. These dresses are made from a light weight fabric for travel and comfort.

Of course, the popular jumpsuit is a natural for any party time and we've selected a jumpsuit with a strip top, nipped and belted at the waist, accepted with the white baggie leg pant.

The diaper dress is really making its debut in Vegas this summer and is very attractive for any occasion.

Maybe you'd feel a little more comfortable in a casual but dressy pants coordinate shown here. This oriental set with the satin pegged leg pant will catch many eyes, I'm sure.

And last, but not least, the crocheted dress has always been a "10" for any party. This sassy black dress with its very feminine and chic look will pull the attention of many people, I bet you.

I'm sure you'll have to agree, these ladies look absolutely beautiful.

And once again, we'd like to thank Mr. Bob Galloway of the Pug Boat Anne and Mr. Daniel Cros for sharing their boats with us, and a great party!

Fashions by
Lei Stroughter

Photographs by
John S. Riley

By Ed Brown

One of the weekly features in the Las Vegas Sentinel drawing much attention is that produced by the paper's Fashion Editor, Lei Stroughter. She has been writing for the Sentinel beginning with its first issue April 25.

A native of Detroit, Michigan, she became an "Army brat" at an early age while her father was in the military service. Later she attended Ferris State College in Michigan and it was while there that she became addicted to the "fashion" bug. While a student she worked at a boutique shop known as the TOGGERY SHOP. The owner took an interest in Lei and taught her fashion display, window display, fashion consulting, coordination and buying.

Stroughter majored in court reporting while at Ferris and after graduation moved to California where she pursued employment in that field. She later moved to Las Vegas and became employed at the Las Vegas Mental Health Clinic.

Lei Stroughter

Through it all, she never lost the "fashion" touch.

Encouraged by her friends to become engaged in her "first love," it was Lei Stroughter back to the drawing boards. She sought out girls in the Las Vegas area who had an interest in modeling and who were dedicated to the art. Thus the beginning of Lei Stroughter, the Las Vegas Sentinel Fashion Editor.

Through the first eight weeks, she has covered many, many allied areas such as MOVEMENT IN FASHIONS, FASHION BASICS, FASHION IMAGINATION, THE BRAID LOOK, CAREFREE HAIRSTYLES, NEW ROLE FOR HATS AND STUNNING BATHING SUIT WEAR.

To date, Lei has left no stone unturned. On the cover of this issue she very capably depicts through the camera eye of John S. Riley, a fashionable lake style party. Lei Stroughter is a stroke of genius.

