Actress Ruby Dee and her actor husband Ossie Davis perform a dramatic reading saluting VISTA (Volunteers In Service to America) at a Washington, D.C., benefit gala in which the couple and 30 other Americans were honored for their exceptional service and work to end poverty. Held at the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, the awards evening was part of a national Conference on Poverty -- "Self-Help in the 80's" marking the 15th anniversary of VISTA. Receiving the award in the Arts category,

Davis's and Ms. Dee's citation read in part: "They have combined a full theatrical life with a deep commitment to social and economic justice at the grassroots level -- a commitment which has often meant career sacrifices." The awards evening was sponsored by Friends of VISTA. Since 1965, nearly 70,000 VISTA volunteers have served in poor communities in America. VISTA is part of ACTION, the federal volunteer service agency.
