MUHAMMAD ALI PROVES HIS PATRIOTISM!

'I would go now, if we were really in trouble, to protect my country and my family.'

QUOTING THE CHAMP

On Iran

'...it's hard for a big man or a big power to admit mistakes'

On Social Justice

'...the children (white) aren't guilty of slavery —their ancestors are.'

On Ku Klux Klan

'...I don't think too many decent white people are going to stand for that.'

"I would go now, if we were really in trouble, to protect my country and family."

Hardly sounds like a quote from a man who once fought the draft system and won his point before the U.S. Supreme Court, does it?

Yet, that is exactly how former three-time world heavyweight boxing champion Muhammad Ali said he feels about going to war for the United States, based on today's world conditions.

Ali granted the LAS VEGAS SENTINEL an exclusive interview recently, to discuss how he feels about both foreign and domestic problems. Boxing took the back seat during the two-hour discussion which centered around the fact that Ali has become as well-known as a spokesman for his
