Some of the pageant's premiere personalities

Andrew Simmons

Andrew Simmons, already an accomplished singer, dancer, actor, comedian and sportsman, will make his first appearance as a singing star at the 1980 Miss Galaxy International Pageant. Born in Singapore and educated in Europe, he began his career with his own TV show in Melbourne, Australia. Three years later he moved to Tokyo, Japan where overnight he became the leading European Make Fashion Model, appearing in over 50 TV and Cinema commercials and commanding a fee in excess of $50,000 per shooting. During that time he continued a thriving singing career and recorded an album and a single in Japanese.

Leigh Christian

Leigh Christian, the former "Revlon Girl" is the MC for the 1980 Miss Galaxy International Pageant. In addition to the many well known commercials she has made, she has starred in such films as "Beyond Atlantis," "Doll Squad," "World's Greatest Athlete" and "Love Machine." Her television credits include starring roles in "Six Million Dollar Man," "emergency," "Marcus Welby," "Starsky And Hutch," "Hawaii Five-O" and many others.

Peggy Ferrera

Peggy Ferrera, performer, vocalist and actress, is now the director of performers acting at the Science of Performing, Inc. Centre. Miss Ferrera has studied voice and performing under the direction of Johnny Ricco for 6 years. She also has had a year of study in Hollywood, California with acting coach John Lehn of the Strasberg Studio One. Miss Ferrera performed all over the U.S. with her own show, has appeared on the television show "Vegas" numerous times and has worked in films such as "The Electric Horseman" and "Howard And Melvin." Under the direction of Miss Ferrera, performers learn the art of delivering lines, staging, voice projecting, timing and inflection.
