PPPT Draws Rudi Back

HERE I'M BACK AT P.P.P.T. (poor people pulling together) looking at the large cake on the table and being introduced to Carolyn Haywood who informed me that one of her friends told her of the open house and she was full o surprises to find she and ERMA O'NEAL went to the same Jr. High School in SOMEWHERE, U.S.A. SHE thinks P.P.P.T is a real meaningful - manner to let people know what they are living in the community for (besides being just a TAX write OFF) Carolyn is a District Agent for PRUDENTIAL Ins. Co. of America. And stated, "People need assurance (which P.P.P.T gives) as well as insurance (so for that cluster phone 735-6535 some Number SHE is Wow-o-Wee!) A TREE GROWS for the West Las Vegas Community by way of a wonderful organization which gives shade to any person who seeks it. As you enter the spacious parking lot you see a warm setting of a office building which houses ample space to breath and feel at ease while contracting biz'ness. A unique bit of historical data hangs upon the wall (just as you enter the front door) for visitors to page thru and see some of the many aims and goals reached or being worked, towards up-grading OUR W.S.O.T. (Hey! W.S.O.T. looks a lil'bit like S.W.A.T... wonder if they are related...huh!). Ranging from old & new housing, street improving, crime preventions, wayward children, child care, local board meetings, persons working together go on and on. So you can let your mind feed on wholesome information that Erma O'Neal and her hard working Staff have compiled for the Visitors. The aroma of home made chili drifted past my smell-buds (made by The Chili Chokers of P.P.P.T.). A table set filled with all kinds of goodies potato salad, green salad, greenbeans, mac & cheese, ham, chicken, (oh lawd) chicken & chili, pies & cakes, 7-up, cokes, punch, and WINE from Lodi, California. A host of lovely people were there and others were drifting in to say: "HELLO ERMA & STAFF. HAVE A HAPPY GRAND PARTY OF NEW OFFICE OPENING!" Happy smiling faces gave the stamp of approvals that P.P.P.T. will & can only grow as it trains people in our community to IMPROVE & MOVE ON AND UP-wards. Lovely people COMING TOGETHER: Charlene Calhoun, Freda Jackson, Emma Jackson, Rixice Newton, Nannette Newton. All declared: We are just trying to keep up with Erma and her staff. Cause they are moving fast. We can talk to the President faster than them cause they are all on the go/so... (we all gave out with a hearty bit of laughter as Erma tipped up and poked her gently in the side and gave a youthful wink - of - eye and invited me to view other sections of their well designed office building... Namely her office which has loveable family photos, citations, plaques, and other Awar-

years ago, the CAREUNIT gave me an answer to dream of becoming well and liking myself," says Patty. "This new wing is the answer to another dream — to be able to help more people find what I found."

The new building, all agree, was dedicated to these recovering alcoholics and their families, the concerned citizens who recognized the need, but most of all to the estimated 15 to 20,000 persons in Clark County alone who are still suffering from their disease of alcoholism.

For further information on alcoholism and what you can do to help, call the Unit's 24-hour CAREline at (702) 642-6905.
