

desert clime determines our vegas fashions!

Fashions by Lei Stroughter

Here in Las Vegas our weather dictates much of our fashion world. With Vegas temperatures varying between 50 and 60 degrees in the fall, we have a greater opportunity to experiment with a variety of styles, colors, and fabrics.

Garments made of polyester - acrylic blends, corduroy, lightweight wool and wool blends in rich shades of rust, chestnut, forest green, navy and teal seem to be favorites among many L.V. women.

The strongest category for fashions (in our sunbelt area of the country) comes under the heading of softly tailored jackets with a lightly padded shoulder; classic acrylic and poodle knit sweaters; slim, slit skirts in plaids or solids and jacket dresses.

Through the courtesy of Fashion Gal, I have combined a few of my favorites (simple and clear looks) that can take you anywhere anytime in our 24 hour city.

Photographs by John S. Riley