By Bishop E.N. Webb, Jr.

"Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old, he will not depart from it." Proverbs 22:6

Some years ago a noted theologian said on the role of religion in the home: "If more of God's Word were taught and used in our homes today, we should be surprised at the wonders that would be brought into our homes. A religion that is not at home in the home will in all probability not be at any other place. And until our religion becomes active and operative in the home, it will in all probability remain inactive and ineffective in every sphere of human activity."

We see the truth of the assertion upheld in the training of Uzziah, a king of Judah. We read of him, "Uzziah was sixteen years old when he began to reign, and he reigned fifty-two years in Jerusalem. He did what his father Amaziah had done. He set himself to seek God in the days of Zechariah, who instructed him in the fear of the Lord." Uzziah was a good king, because at home he was taught the word of God.

As parents let us teach our children that God so loved them, that He gave His only Son to die for their salvation and that in response to this love, they should walk in God's way.

Lord enable us by Your Spirit to say with Joshua of old, "As for me and my house, we will serve the Lord."
