

Local Fireman Honored

David L. Washington of the Las Vegas Fire Department was among 120 invited participants representing communities across the nation at the Sixth Public Fire Education Planning Conference given by the United States Fire Administration in Airlie, Virginia.

Along with public fire educators, fire chiefs, medical personnel, and state and Federal officials, Washington participated in such workshops as "Pre-Schoolers and Public Fire Education," "Media as a Public Education Tool," and "Public Fire Education Resources."

(WASHINGTON)

Among this year's conference highlights was a session on applying marketing skills to public fire education program planning, presented by Bill Novelli of Porter/Novelli Associates, a major marketing and advertising firm of Washington, D.C. Another key session focused on "Leadership Through Team-building." Fire Education Specialist, David L. Washington is currently director of a Fire Safety Education and Home Survey Program for the Las Vegas Fire Department. Goal of the program is to reduce the incidence of fire in the Westside Area.

Washington is a six year veteran with the City of Las Vegas Fire Department.

CETA Applicants

More than 1,000 applications for the position of executive director of the Clark County Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) have been received, according to Becky Buckley, CETA public affairs officer.

The cutoff date for such applications for the position, vacant since Dr. Ernest Bryant left to become deputy city manager of Las Vegas, was last Friday.

Buckley said a screening committee will narrow the applicants down in the next three weeks "to a minimum number of those qualified." The CETA executive board will make the final decision from that list.

In the interim, Dr. Bryant will continue to run the agency from his city position, Buckley said.

Ham Opens Headquarters

The opening of campaign headquarters for Jane Ham, successful Republican candidate for Assembly District 16, is announced for Friday, September 19, 5 to 10 p.m., at the Tropicana Plaza shopping center, 3430 E. Tropicana Ave., number 20.

"The public is invited to the opening," states Ham. "The headquarters will be open every day from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. until November 4th. Ham polled over 70 percent of the Republican vote for the Assembly District 16 seat.

Jordan Thanks Campaign Workers

An open letter to the campaign workers, voters and endorsers for Louise H. Jordan.

It has been a most rewarding experience to have worked so closely with my campaign managers, Edward and Lula Collins and the members of my committee Margie Morris, Barbara and Rose James, Bervin and Carolyn Oats, Kirby and Shirley Burgess, Ira Matlock, Fred Hymes, Tom Brown, Clora Edwards, Mary Walker, Tommie Whaley and Estella Robinson, Elder George Ward, and all poll workers.

What you showed for me was something that money cannot buy. It's called Love and Friendship. You were possibly the hardest working unpaid workers anywhere.

There was a purpose to our campaign and we are proud that the political process could be run in an honest, fair and upright way. We all stood by our principals and we all know why we lost in the sight of those who are on the outside looking in. We know however that we have only lost a battle, the Victory is over the sunset.

I appreciate you in a way that words cannot express. Remember the scripture that says, "whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap."

To all of you who cast your vote for me, it was the right way regardless of the outcome. I can simply say thanks and I love you.

Sincerely,

Louise H. Jordan
