Sensational Sammy Stars At Caesars

Unquestionably one of the greatest performers who ever lived, Sammy Davis, Jr., stars at Caesars Palace for two weeks, Thursday, Oct. 23, through Wednesday Nov. 5. Comedian Rip Taylor will open the show.

Sammy Davis, Jr., doesn't test the water when he steps onstage — he plunges right in and proceeds to deliver the type of performances, night after night, that has made him perhaps the most consummate entertainer of the 20th century. Incredibly, Sammy has been doing it for over 50 years and his universal appeal and popularity is unmatched. He has recorded over 30 lp.'s with single sales in excess of 15 million. He is an actor, singer, dancer, musician, author, comedian and above all, a towering human being. There is a special quality to a Sammy Davis appearance, something uniquely personal about his presence that reaches out to an audience. If greatness can be termed a quantity, Sammy owns the franchise.

Rip Taylor, that zany maniac of the ribald, the Count of Confetti, will be present and unaccounted for regaling everyone with his inimitable brand of lunacy. Rip's humor can only be called off-the-wall, a rubber wall. He's certifiable but it's audiences he drives crazy — with laughter.
