THE COMMISSION'S ANNUAL FOOD DRIVE

Al Brown, Coordinator Human Relations

The selfish man quarrels against every sound principle of conduct by demanding his own way. A rebel doesn't care about the facts all he wants to do is yell.

In the year 1620, for sixty long days and nights they sailed westward. Some of them must have wondered if there really was such a place as America, on the other side of the ocean. The Mayflower finally put down her anchor in Provincetown Harbor. There was laughter and weeping and immense relief; indeed this was Cape Cod and America. The Pilgrims began to offer thanks, thus the beginning of our first Thanksgiving.

As the Thanksgiving Holiday, approaches, we have much to be thankful for. Yet there are many who are less fortunate. Thanksgiving Day, for them has no meaning.

For this and other reasons, the Clark County School District's Human Relations Department initiated a Thanksgiving Food Drive. The food drive is only one of the many worthwhile projects sponsored by the department.

Administrators, faculty and students, have shown much enthusiasm toward the project. To further promote interest, many schools do the food drive on a competitive basis. For the past two years, Madison Sixth Grade Center, has been number 1 in the over all competition.

In order to provide funds, that some of the baskets are complete with turkey and all the trimmings, many schools have sponsored fund raising projects, such as bake sales, candy sales etc.

The Food Drive will begin October 27-November 17. If you are contacted by a student and asked to donate can goods or a non-perishable food item, remember the cause is of great importance. Being able to extend a helping hand and share, is what Human Relations is all about.

COUNTING CANNED GOODS can sometimes be a little difficult.

CANNED GOODS are separated in order to put together well balanced boxes.

STUDENTS IN ACTION: These students are busy preparing boxes for needy families.
