Human Relations Department News

Clark County School District

STUDENTS IN ACTION

Al Brown, Coordinator Human Relations

Some of the most dedicated and concerned young people in the country are among the 90,000 attending school in Clark County taking pride in themselves and their community. The students realize important goals can only be achieved successfully when they are concerned for others.

Students who care have sponsored many worthwhile projects in which many individuals in the community were benefited.

The Honor Society at one of the Jr. High Schools sponsored a school-wide Book Drive. 5,000 books were collected, reigning from Children's Stories to complete sets of Encyclopedia. These books were carefully sorted, boxed and delivered by students and Human Relations workers to 8 Senior Citizens Centers and 4 Child Care Centers in the Las Vegas area.

As we are approaching the Holiday season, students in many of the schools are preparing themselves to entertain at Senior Citizen Centers and Day Care Centers.

After the entertainment session, students pass out stuff stockings and little baskets of goodies to each in attendance.

Great moments of enthusiasm are displayed as Senior Citizens & students find a few moments to chat and get to know each other.

SENIOR CITIZENS attend luncheon sponsored by Human Relations Department.

SIXTH GRADE students provide entertainment for seniors.

"I will read this one," sites a Senior Citizen.
